WILLSON RECEIVES HEARTY WELCOME.

Republicans Highly Pleased With Their Nominee For Governor of Kentucky.

Cloverport was hostess to a distinguished visitor in the person of the Republican nominee for Governor of Kentucky, Augustus E. Willson, last Tuesday night. Col. Willson arrived here from Owensboro on the "Willson Special" at 6 o'clock and was met at the Henderson route depot by Mr. Leonard Oelze and Mr. Robt. Polk. After the special arrived at the station, Mr. Willson was driven to the home of Capt. and Mrs. J. H. Rowland, where a reception was given in his honor at 6 o'clock to the public.

A large number of friends called at the Rowland home and gave Mr. Willson a hearty welcome. He received until 7 o'clock, when Capt. and Mrs. Rowland were host and hostess to a beautiful dinner, given in compliment to the city's visitor. The guests to dinner were: Mr. Willson, W. E. Bidwell, Jno. D. Babbage, Jno. E. Hays, Jr., Chas. B. Skilman, W. C. Moorman, Chas. P. Babbage, R. L. Oelze, Capt. and Mrs. Rowland.

Oelze's hall was crowded with people by 7:30 and Mr. Willson was introduced by the Hon. Jno. P. Haswell, Jr., of Hardinburg. His speech was strong and firm, expressing clearly his ideas which were well received by his audience.

Immediately after speaking a crowd thronged around Mr. Willson to give him the glad hand, and he made his departure about 11 o'clock on the train bound for Owensboro.

Citizens Ticket For Councilmen.

The following men were nominated last Thursday night at a public meeting of the citizens in Oelze's hall for councilmen.

Citizens Ticket.

The old council with the exception of Joe Fitch makes up another ticket. H. A. Solbrig is named in Mr. Fitch's place and is made up as follows:

L. T. Reid, S. H. McCracken, C. D. Hook, J. O. O'Connell, J. A. Barry, H. A. Solbrig.

Boats Suspend Navigation

Between Here And Louisville.

The locks at Louisville were closed Monday night at 12 o'clock for the purpose of repairs. There will be no boats between here and Louisville for some time, as the packet company thought it best to leave all its boats in port at Louisville. It is very probable that there will be a packet run between here and Evansville.

A Good Attendance.

The entertainment Friday night given by the ladies of the Presbyterian church, was quite a success in every way. The little boys and girls looked beautiful in their various costumes, and did their parts perfectly. It was a course of great merit to see the old mids ground into sweet sixteen once again. Music was furnished by a success financially also.

Remains Brought to This City.

The remains of Mrs. Bessie Meeker were brought here Thursday from New Albany, and were interred at the Muffin grave yard, near Hardin's school-house. Mrs. Meeker was 50 years old, and had been married twice, her first husband being a Holder. Mrs. Meeker died of diphtheria. She was survived by one son, three sisters and one brother. Mrs. Meeker was an aunt of Mr. Lee Noel, who resides near this city.

Announcement.

Oscar McGavock announces the engagement of his niece, Maggie Forrest Long to Benton C. Ireland, of Skillman. The marriage will be solemnized October 23, 1907, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, at the home of the bride.

Announcement.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Lewis, of Addison, announce the marriage of their daughter, Eleanor Young, to Wickliffe Miller, of Louisville. The wedding will be solemnized in November at the home of the bride.

COL. JOHNSON TO SPEAK TOMORROW.

Congressman From This District Will Address the Voters in Interest of Democracy.

Col. Ben Johnson, Congressman from the Fourth District, will arrive here tomorrow, and will make an address to the citizens of Cloverport in the interest of the Democratic State ticket.

Col. Johnson has a host of friends in Breckinridge county, and a great crowd is expected to hear him. The speaking will take place at 3 p. m. in Oelze's hall.

Col. Johnson will be entertained at 6 o'clock dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Younger in this city. The guests will include several of Col. Johnson's personal friends.

Why Should I Support Haswell?

The Breckinridge Democrat, says editorially to the Breckinridge News: "Use some of that space in telling us what valued reason you have for supporting John P. Haswell, Jr., as against Dr. P. W. Foote?"

Now while we do not wish to speak up and answer for the Breckinridge News, as it can do that, no doubt, for itself, we do wish to answer for ourselves, as it is a question that should address itself to every voter in Breckinridge county, and is both a pertinent and important question.

First, we are for John Haswell, because we are, always have been and always will be for fair, honest and decent elections.

Are you Dr. Foote? Are you Breckinridge Democrat? Are you Mr. Voter, who expects to vote for Dr. Foote?

If so, on what are you relying, if anything, and on what are you basing your hopes, if you have any, of Dr. Foote's election?

Surely not on getting the most votes, for, honestly, when Breckinridge county is to start with from 250 to 300 Republican majority practically all of whom are for Willson and Haswell at this time, and added to this are easily are 500 good Democratic citizens who will refuse to support the machine ticket.

We are for Haswell, because we are in favor of the repeal of the infamous tax warrant law that taxes the poorest tax-payers in the county, in a single year, approximately $4,000, for the benefit of two county officials, for no other reason on earth that can possibly be discovered, unless it be to reimburse them out of the tax-payers' pockets for services rendered and campaign funds contributed to secure the election of certain representatives who otherwise would never have been able to vote for one Judge Paynter for the United States Senate, as against one J. C. S. Blackburn, notwithstanding the promise that they would be governed by the wishes of their Democratic constituents when in fact two-thirds of their constituents were for Blackburn.

We are for Haswell because we are in favor of the repeal of that obnoxious registration law that is a constant source of annoyance to all good citizens who happen to live in town; which was passed for no other purpose than that of making votes and registration certificates legal tender for all debts public and private, and as a further means of making corruption and bribery easy.

We are for Haswell because we are against that damnable proposed amendment to the Constitution, that is intended to make tax receipts legal tender for all votes public and private, as it now does registration certificates.

We are for Haswell because he is against that part of the revenue law that taxes all kinds of legitimate business by charging them a license to do business, notwithstanding those things taxed are as honorable, as necessary and as respectable as any other business not taxed.

We are for Haswell because we are against one of the most corrupt and unscrupulous machines that ever cursed any State, and one that is no respecter of persons, and steals from good Democrats as well as Republicans.

We are for Haswell because we have a perfect right to be, because we are for what is right and against what is wrong.

We are for Haswell because he is one of the most capable, one of the cleanest and best equipped young men in the State for the position.

I beg leave to subscribe myself,
Very respectfully yours,
A Citizen and Voter.

Dr. Foote Sees a Great Light

Do Hager, for Governor, Tyler for Mayor and Dr. Foote, for Representative, stand on the same platform?

Hager says that he is his own platform, that he stands on his record and his oath of office and the laws that he swears to enforce. Tyler is Hager's candidate for Mayor as against Bingham, who was in favor of putting the lid on.

A part of the record that Hager stands on, that infamous revenue law, that taxes everything in sight, provides for the penalty going on thirty days sooner than before, and especially for the issue of two dollar tax warrants, against the tax payers in favor of certain county officials; he therefore stands on this, favored it at the time, and still favors it.

Dr. Foote, on the same platform, after the Republican state platform, resolutions in conventions and Republican speakers all over the state, had condemned it for 12 months; and five months after his nomination, suddenly sees a great light and comes out in a card favoring its repeal.

Doctor, don't you think you and the local politicians who advised you to write that card are about thirty minutes late.

A VORSE.

BEAUTIFUL CONFIRMATION

Services Held in St. Rose Catholic Church Sunday—Thirty-nine Confirmed.

Right Rev. William George McCloskey, D. D., Catholic Bishop of Louisville, arrived in this city Sunday afternoon from Owensboro, accompanied by Father Whelan, of St. Alphonsus church, Davies county, and on Monday morning at 9:30 administered the Sacrament of Confirmation at St. Rose's church to a class of thirty-nine. He was assisted in the sanctuary by the Rev. Jas. L. Whelan, Rev. A. C. Meyerling, of Brown's Valley, Rev. C. Ruff, of Astel, and Father Frey.

The high mass, which immediately followed the administration of the Sacrament of Confirmation, was sung by the Rev. Stephen Holleran, of Irvington, Ky., who also gave the benediction after which the choir sang "Holy God We Praise Thy Name."

The Right Rev. Bishop gave the candidates for confirmation a fatherly instruction just before administering the sacrament, and Father Holleran preached a beautiful sermon after the high mass, both of which will be long remembered by the large congregation present.

WAS KILLED IN ST. LOUIS.

Henry Moorman, Formerly of Brandenburg, Shot by Revenue Officer Monday.

A report has been received here that Henry Moorman, of St. Louis, was killed in that city Monday afternoon by a revenue officer. Mr. Moorman was one of the directors of the Continental Creamery, and it is said that trouble between him and the officer originated over pure food labels.

Mr. Moorman was twenty-four years of age, and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Moorman of Brandenburg. He was a young man well-known in Breckinridge and widely respected, and had most promising future.

His death comes as a great shock to his friends here and relatives at Brandenburg. Mr. Moorman was well remembered here by the young people who had the pleasure of meeting him when he visited Miss Ella Smith, of this city.

Why Colds Are Dangerous.

Samuel R. Worley, of Hixhign, Va., has been shoeing horses for more than fifty years. He says: "Chamberlain's Pain Balm has given me great relief from lame back and rheumatism. It is the best liniment I ever used." For sale by Severe Drug Co.

BLAINE-BARKLEY.

Stephensport Young Man and Former Cloverport Young Lady Wed.

Miss Murray Barkley, formerly of Cloverport, and Mr. Percy Blaine, of Stephensport, were married last Wednesday evening, October 9, at 6:30, at the home of the bride, the ceremony being performed by Rev. J. T. Lewis.

Miss Alice Stitt was maid of honor and Mr. Ed Morrison, of this city, was best man.

Mrs. Blaine is the only daughter of Mr. Geo. Barkley, and formerly lived here with her aunt, Mrs. Abe Skilman.

Those from here who attended the wedding were: Miss Rose Agnew, Mrs. Nat Tucker, Horace Tucker, Ed Morrison, Mrs. Emmett Mattingly, Mrs. Marion Polk and Miss Cox, of Tobinsport, and Mr. Oscar Blaine.

Names of Officers Wanted.

In order to make the records complete in the secretary's book of the County Union of the A. S. of E., I request the names of the president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer of each union in the county except the ones given below. I also want the address of the secretary, and the number of members of each union that reports. You will facilitate the work of the secretary if you will furnish this information at once. The following unions need report, as I have the information needed about them. For the benefit of any who may wish to know, the name and address of the secretary is also given:

Garfield Union No. 3055, Henry Dowell, Garfield.

St. Giles Union No. 2436, N. L. Mercer, Eveleigh.

Overton Union No. 1632, H. C. Pate, Shreve.

Hardinburg Union No. 2, Tom Miller, Hardinburg.

Fairview Union No. 2775, Henry Hayes, West View.

Bell's Union No. —, A. K. Stinnett, Hardinburg.

Joel H. Pile, Secretary.

The Sale at Ekron.

Dave Henry handled the sale at Ekron last Saturday in a way that was satisfactory to buyer and seller and everybody was well pleased. Horses, mules, sheep and cattle all brought good prices. There was a good crowd and the bidding spirited. The only trouble was the drinking. It was shameful and disgraceful and shows the evil of the open saloon.

Fishing Party.

Dr. and Mrs. Fred DeHaven, of Louisville, Mr. and Mrs. Orlo DeHaven and Miss Mayme DeHaven composed a fishing party which left Saturday for Falls of Rough. They took tents and provisions and will camp on the banks of Rough Creek.

Ira Behen Suffers

Nervous Collapse.

While at work Friday night at the railroad shops, Ira Behen was struck in the eye by a piece of steel. The shock was so great that he fainted, and was unconscious for quite a while. Fortunately Mr. Behen was not seriously injured.

Grand Lodge Delegates.

The following delegates are attending the grand Lodge at Louisville this week: Chas. Hamman and A. L. Oelze, Wm. D. Owen, Glendens, John T. Smith, Fordville, Jesse Whitworth, Hardinburg, Andrew Crawford, Stephensport, Overton Branch, Bewleyville.

Some Long Gourds.

Jerry Tilted, conductor on the branch road beats all records in raising gourds. He has two vines in his garden with 36 gourds, a sample of which he had on exhibition at Irvington Monday, the hands measuring 40 inches. It is a beautiful gourd, just the kind I was raised on, says Reuben Miller, of Owensboro.

Kodol! Or Indigestion.

Relieve your stomach, purgation of the bowels. Digena what you eat.

BACK TO WINTERS IN CLOVERPORT.

S. C. Bates Writes An Interesting Letter—Dr. Newsom, LaHeists And Many Others Mentioned.

Marion, Ohio.—Mr. John D. Babbage.—Cloverport, Ky.—Dear Sir:—It has been some time since I contributed anything to your esteemed paper, but it finds its way to my desk every week, and is like a letter from home. The death of Ulrich Farber sets in motion a train of thought which I can not refrain from communicating.

It sends me back to the winters of '69 and '70, when Cloverport had no building for its public schools, but rented rooms in what was known as the Boyd Block, where the Bank of Cloverport now stands. Mrs. Vineyard taught on the second floor, where I was a pupil, along with such boys as Noble Warfield, Charley Babbage, the Seelye boys and others whose names I can not recall.

On the third floor Mr. Vineyard held forth with such disciples as Virge Babbage, Albert LaHeist, Smith Duncan, Conrad Simons, and many others.

Do not those names call up recollections of the ball games we used to play down at the lower end of town, when Charley Warfield would knock the big rubber ball so far it would take a long time to get back? There was no "Base Ball" with its complicated rules. It was "Town Ball" that we played.

Vest & Walters had a store on the corner below, in a little frame building. Billy Smart had a store near by. You had a little store with the telegraph office in the rear, and Dick Friend was the operator. Abe Skilman had a large general store a little further up.

LaHeist and Fisher were just starting their drug store, where it now stands. Mahlon Taylor had a little store on what has since been the Homer corner.

In the building where the school was kept, the two lower rooms were occupied with stores. Henry Bauld had the one on the west side.

The store on the corner was kept by Bowman & Hamilton. I used to carry my dinner from home. There was no play ground provided, and on bad days it was a favorite place of mine to stay around Bowman's store, especially in the back room where was the sign of "Merchant Taylor."

There was a good crowd and the bidding spirited. The only trouble was the drinking. It was shameful and disgraceful and shows the evil of the open saloon.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1907

In saying John Haswell was a clean man does not infer that Dr. Foster is unclean. But we are afraid he will be come tainted if he runs with Milt Board and his gang long enough.

Public denunciation of a citizen, be he rich or poor, no matter how unworthy is a species of barbarism. It is vicious and vile and smacks of a low-down, mean citizen.

"Boss" Milt and his gang see the handwriting on the wall. They feel they know their doom. Any man who dares to antagonize them and their political methods is a sounder and unworthy citizen. Are the good citizens of this county going to vote with this gang?

Col. Ben Johnson is a welcome visitor to this town. He speaks here Thursday night for Democracy. He is a fair-minded man, honest, intelligent and a man of ideas and brains. Above all he is respectful of his fellow man, and that is why we honor him.

Milt Board can't force his political methods on to the voters of this county any longer. They are catching on. They won't have it. They are odious. They are revolutionary. They say the very life out of a free citizen's liberty. They appear to ignore, prejudice and the lowest element of mankind.

We never heard a Republican in this county say that all he had to do was to put money and whisky enough in this county and he could carry it for his party. Milt Board has said that time and again, and prides himself on being able to do it. He says this county is nominally 200 to 350 Republican, but he can carry it any time he wants to with money and whisky. Now let him denounce some more.

Mr. Willson preaches the gospel of good cheer and elevated ideas of good citizenship, good government and the square deal for every American citizen.
He is a Republican good and true. Any Kentuckian to the master born. Any man that speaks like Mr. Willson is a true man. His utterances come from the heart, and they strike the hearts of all true citizens. He doesn't appeal to the passions and prejudices of the ignorant, but to the highest order of manhood. His home life, his business life, his political life bear out what he preaches on the stump. He tells the truth about men and things, and does it in a nice, clean, smooth way. His sentences are short, sharp, never, yet immense. He is reverent and gentle in handling his adversaries. He knows them and their ways like a book. He doesn't hesitate to tell what he knows. It strikes the average man and puts him in thinking and makes him take back with higher ideals of his government and his duty to his neighbor and his friend. Mr. Willson, here's our hand, our heart and our vote.

There was a great crowd at Hardinsburg Monday. It being the first day of circuit court. Republicans, Democrats and politicians vied with each other, and the center of attraction was the speaking at the court house at 1 o'clock. Dr.
Milton Hoard led off in a denunciation of the News, and its editor, in language that was unbecoming any gentleman before any public assembly. He read an article published in last week's issue, which referred to the "boos" of the machine—the Democratic political machine in this county—and if the doctor assumes that role, we have nothing to take back.
The News assumes the right to criticize the acts of public men, no matter what party they belong to. The doctor does not pretend to deny that he is not a member of the Democratic machine—and a staunch, active member. He is at this moment devoting all of his time to managing the state campaign for the Democrats. His occasional visits to this county are for no other purpose than to direct the movements of his subordinates. But the people of this county and of this State will not be ruled by scrupulous methods used by the Democrats to carry elections when they go to the polls in November. So far as the News and its editor are concerned, the statements of Dr. Hoard, made publicly or privately, does not affect it in the least. It will still continue to be published at the same old stand.

Joe Green Anderson is the nominee of the Independent element of the Democratic and Republican parties in Meade county for the Legislature. If we were a voter in Meade county we would vote for Joe Green. A model, upright, honest citizen, worthy of any man's or party's support. He stands for the best citizenship, the highest morals and all that is good and true in any man. Don't matter if he is running under the log cabin, he'll be found good and true to the best interests of his constituents.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by infectious condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.
We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Dr. Williams' Catarrh Cure, sent for circulars free.
Sold by Druggists, etc.

NOW IS BEST

TIME TO TAKE.

Directions To Prepare Simple, Yet Remarkable Home Mixture.

A well known authority on Rheumatism gives the readers of a large New York daily paper the following valuable, yet simple and harmless prescription, which any one can easily prepare at home:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce, Compound Korus, one ounce; Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Mix by shaking well in a bottle, and take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

He states that the ingredients can be obtained from any good prescription pharmacy at small cost, and being of vegetable extraction, are harmless to take.

This pleasant mixture, if taken regularly for a few days, is said to overcome almost any case of Rheumatism. The pain and swelling, if any, diminishes with each dose, until permanent results are obtained, and without injuring the stomach. While there are so many so-called rheumatism remedies, patent medicines, etc., some of which do little or nothing, really give permanent results, and the above will no doubt, be greatly appreciated by many sufferers here at this time.

Inquiry at the drug stores of this neighborhood elicits the information that these drugs are harmless and can be bought separately, or the druggists here will mix the prescription for our readers if asked to.

TO WIN A WOMAN.
WOMAN sometimes scorns what best contents her.
To send her another, never give her any.
For scorn at first makes after,
love the more.
He doth scorn the man in hate of you,
rather to beset more love in you:
he do chide, 'tis not to have you gone;
why, the fools are mad, if left alone.
No repent him whatever she doth say,
'get you gone.' she doth not mean
'away.'
And praise, commend, extol their

with his tongue he cannot win a wo-

The following is an extract from the will of a Lincolnshire farmer, dated Aug. 1, 1706:

"Item I also give to my wife the household furniture now lieth on, one ovel (sic) table, the Tea table, one Round table, the Round backed chairs, one spindle chair, my chbney (sic) and Tea table, 811 spoons, one Baril (sic) warming pan, and a Seeling tillage and Tonga."—London Notes and Queries.

Thomas A. Edison, the great American inventor, says: "Folly equals the extent of the illness of mankind caused by eating improper food or too much food; people are inclined to overeat themselves." This is where the digestive finds its beginning in necessity. The stomach can do only so much work and no more, and when you overload it, or when you eat too strong kind of food, the digestive organ cannot possibly do the work demanded of it. It is at such times that the stomach needs help. It demands help and warns you by headaches, belching, sour stomach, nausea and indigestion. You should attend to this at once by taking something that will actually help the stomach. Kodol is the answer to it. It is a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids and contains the same juices found in a beefsteak. It is pleasant to take. It tells you what you eat. Sold by druggists.

"Some people study the architecture of houses under construction or comment on the building material employed," said the woman. "That's all well, and I try to appreciate the things too. But somehow I can't get my mind off one detail concerning buildings. I always look at the kind of glass put in.

...cheaply put up or the reverse. It is a class is of good quality—it doesn't date, though that of course is the extreme mark—I know that pretty much everything regarding the structure intended to be first class. Poor glass on the other hand, inspires me with suspicion. I feel that with such an advertisement everything within is without is apt to be shoddy. At least I have my doubts until convinced otherwise."—New York Press.

How the Old Man Spelled It.

"Look here, Charley," said one young collegian to another who had been asked to run his eye over a letter which his friend had written to his father in which there was the inevitable request for money, "you've spelled jug-g-u-g."

"I know," said Charley, "but, you see, I used the cash and don't want the old man to think I'm putting on airs. That's how he spells it."

That's him thar on his cōm in the cart,
An' thet's his wife a-creepin'
In the crowd, 'way off, an' weepin'.
Oh, the law is jest a-breakin' of her heart!

That's him thar on the scaffold'. See! He speaks
Thar's a woman thar a-holdin'
Of the hands they'll soon be foldin',
An' the tears is jest a-rainin' down her cheeks.

That's him thar in the coffin, lyin' low,
An' the womn—first to love him
An' the last to bend above him
Is his mother—but I reckon you would know.

An American actor, who is old enough not to consider himself a matinee idol by any means, was somewhat pleased in a western hotel when a pretty girl stopped him in the corridor and presented him with a rose without saying a word. He received a note the following day reminding him of the incident and asking him to send the giver of the flower two seats at the theater in which he was playing "as a memento of the occasion."

reply, "I should be glad to send you the seats you ask for; but, on consultation with the manager of the theater I have been informed that the seats are all fastened down and that he is opposed to having them sent away as souvenirs."—Ledger's Home Journal.

An imposing cemetery was about to be opened in a western town. The mayor, who had charge of the laying out of the grounds, was puzzled for an appropriate inscription to put over the gate. Riding along in his automobile one day, he was cogitating over different holy texts, so he explained his difficulty to his chauffeur. "What would you suggest?" he asked. "We have come to stay," was the prompt reply.

An associate justice of the supreme court of Madagascar was sitting by the side of a river when a traveler approached and said:

"I wish to cross. Would it be lawful to use this boat?"

"It would," was the reply. "It is my boat."

"Heartless man!" said an indignant spectator. "Why didn't you tell him that your boat had a hole in it?"

"The matter of the boat's condition," said the great jurist, "was not brought before me." — Commonplace.

Balaklava, in the Crimea, scene of "The Charge of the Light Brigade," has in recent years been discovered to be the site of an ancient Greek city. Much of this buried town, which is believed to be the Chersonesus Taurica, the scene of Euripides' "Iphigenia in Tauris," has been excavated with most interesting results.

Besides the ruins of temples and homes, says Miss Annette M. B. McKin in a volume on Russia, there have been found many things which indicate that the city was abandoned hurriedly. Money was left scattered on the floors, and bits of bread and other food are found in disordered array.

Near a stone canal was found a ancient hen's nest, in which were six eggs which probably dated back to a period before the birth of Christ.
Three had been broken by falling earth and two smashed to atoms, but one was quite whole, with a dried up yolk inside it. Some careless housewife had failed to keep track of a p-

Thousands of Russian tourists visit the museum at Balaklava, and these eggs attracted more attention than all the marbles and other fine specimens the archaeologist has fitted up what he calls an "archaeological buffet." In a glass case are the remains of the eggs, the bits of bread and grain and many other reminders of Greek cookery, and about this time tourists may be found grouped at a table, at the time of the day, more impressed than by anything else in the place.

Some of the Romans seem to have been very "solid," while others were fast to a degree not known nowadays. The latter class was best exposed by the will of Marcus Caelius, dated March, A.D. 60, for which $100,000 was paid before the legatus, in April out of the public money at squandered, according to Adams, $200,000. "I fear himself before he came to Gaul," was in debt to the emperor for $100,000; he had a son worth $145,830; Claudius, a freedman, and his wife, $152,500. Augustus obtained from the testamentary disposition of his friends—some people will leave their fortunes to their sovereigns—not less than $1,000,000. He died of the death the enormous sum of $189,938, which Caligula is said to have squandered in a single year. Vespasian estimated at his accession that the money which the maintenance of the empire would require was $100,000,000. See New York National Review.

The old days of grasshoppers and drought are almost forgotten in the prosperous Kansas of today; although the citizen of Codell, Earl Shamburg, has not yet forgotten a hard time he encountered. The safest and most reliable cough and cold remedy and lung medicine that has ever been discovered. Guaranteed by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Trial bottle free.

The names of all born in equal station are not so widely varied as the present extremes of vice and goodness, but by the effects of rarest and severest experience. Beautiful fairies and terrible gnomes do not stand by the infant's cradle sowing the nascent mind with tenderest graces or vilest errors. The slow attrition of vicissitudes and associations and law defying influences or the sudden impetus of some terribly multiplied and social disaster must have worn away the sanctity of conscience and self respect, dashed the mind from the heights of these down to the depths of despair and recklessness before one of our many life could take counsel with the long and cruel—Krederick A. No machine has ever made and never will make a machine that will go perpetually. The "going" of the machine implies a steady loss (to the particle machine) of stored up power, and it is only a question of time for the power to run out, when the machine will necessarily have to stop. But in a deeper sense there is nothing but perpetual motion. The motion of the things of this world is imparted to something else, and so on ad infinitum. By the laws of the conservation of force motion is indestructible and must therefore be perpetual. —New York American.

At a dinner table in London the conversation turned on public speaking. Curran stated that he could never address an audience for a quarter of an hour without moistening his lips. "I have the advantage of you there, Curran," said Sir Thomas Turton pompously and pretentiously member of parliament. "I spoke the other night in the house of commons for five hours on the nabob of Oude and never moistened my lips."

"That is very remarkable indeed," replied Currau, "for every one agreed. It was the driest speech of the session."

Romance of a Geranium Leaf.

By MARY W. MOUNT.

Copyright, 1907, by E. C. Parolia.

His friends declared that Herbert Wyndham would one day be recognized as a great artist. "Genius will out," they insisted, grieving secretly over the undisciplined poverty which clung to man and studio.

They were jubilant in this declaration when Miss Ruth Greville sat to him for a portrait. She was the first butterfly who had drifted from the gelid realms of society into the obscure studio in Herkimer street. With her came a breath of luxury from a world which had long become a stranger to Wyndham.

Her parents arranged with the artist for her sittings. Now and then all three turned and looked at her, settling between them the pose in which she was to be painted. The girl herself said little. She appeared sweetly anxious to have the portrait painted exactly as her parents pleased. Of personal vanity she seemed to have none. Wyndham stirred with keen pleasure as he noticed her appreciative scrutiny of his pictures. She evidently understood something of art. Wyndham saw behind the roses and lilies of her face in its frame of curling hair a mind to be explored. He was eager to begin the portrait.

When he did his hand was unsteady. To the excitement of a first profitable order of the kind he had longed for was added the excitement of painting a face so kind and so beautiful while it enchanted him.

Some unformed idea of delightful chats about art had lingered in his mind, to be brushed aside like a cobweb at her first sitting. She was cold, with a calm severity which held him aloof as effectively as some impassable river. Nothing of his kindliness tinged her manner. It seemed merely not to occur to her that any social intercourse could exist between an aristocrat of the kind she was and a painter in this small studio at the top of three flights of dingy stairs. Her very youth took off the sting of this insolence of wealth, she was so entirely unconscious of it.

Perhaps this impassable barrier of reserve might have been brushed aside to some extent had Wyndham been less sensitive to it. He met her unresponsiveness with like reserve, her uncommunicativeness with silence.

But as he painted in such lines of her graceful figure and the bloom of her face grew under his hand upon the canvas he was acutely conscious of every lovely contour and tint, modestly rebellious that this girl, with her wide, intellectual brow and soft, sympathetic eyes, never vouchsafed him a single unnecessary word, never looked his way with an even momentary sympathy.

"Your hair baffles me," he declared one day, laying down his brush. "Something in its tone startled her. 'Are artists always so intense?' she asked herself.

She raised her hand to the ripples of her pale brown hair, where golden lights, shifted and changed with a warm glow as alluring as it was impossible to express. Her violet eyes widened.

"Shall I change my position?" she asked.

He rushed into an explanation of the difficulty of painting light in hair. She looked interested, but made no comment.

Wyndham saw what her observant eyes noted every makeshift in the studio. It hurt him to feel that she comprehended every particle of the poverty of life. This hurt the more when, toward the last, he thought that he surprised a look of pity in her eyes. He hardly expected her to tell him at parting that she meant to send art friends to him to be painted because he did it so beautifully. But she did, and she kept her word. Wyndham's friends said that luck had come to him in a golden spoon.

To Wyndham, sitting alone in his studio poring over a delicate sketch of a beautiful girl with eyes of tenderest sympathy and golden lights in her curling hair, luck seemed to have departed. All that she would do was to those weeks of poignant emotion was this secret sketch of a girl whose soft eyes looked into his with an expression which the living eyes had never worn, this and a leaf of rose geranium which she had dropped upon the floor. She had missed it when she left, for he saw her glance at her desk and then about her, as though seeking something. In a little moment a book in an inside pocket he kept it, where he could keep it at whenever he jotted in a date or looked up a reference.

One day the glory of life seemed to flood his world again, for Ruth Greville came to his studio. A charity bazaar was to be held, and she had charge of the art table. She wanted a picture for it, and she thought he might contribute some little sketch. He promised more than that. He would superintend the erection of her stall and decorate it himself. She wondered at his enthusiasm. When he refused payment for the work she was embarrassed. This had not been her wish. Nor did she realize that, after all, a busy artist could not spend two days arranging a stall and decoration of the most beautiful booth in the bazaar without some pecuniary loss.

She was charmed with his work and unbenet to be gracious, although she had first cast a startled glance at the distinguished looking man in evening clothes who approached her, when Wyndham became a purchaser at her stall.

Because he read her thought so well he made her a small purchase there, a trifle decorated by her own hands. She saw him spend freely at another booth. After that Wyndham removed to a better studio. He would try to forget her, he told himself. He did not succeed. Every free-frou of stolen glances upon his stairs made his heart pound expectantly. One day she came.

He hoped she had not noticed his palor and nervousness when he welcomed her. He feared she had, for a sort of wondering intention flashed over her mobile features.

She wanted to have an engagement made for some work, she said.

His hand still trembled as he pulled out his little book and turned over its pages. From between them fluttered a rose geranium leaf. A doo, crimson rushed to his forehead.

His eyes of guilty consciousness betrayed all the story of his love to her glance of swift inquiry and comprehension. He saw that she recognized the leaf, but he could not conceal the tenderness with which he picked it up.

"It was such a pretty leaf—so wonderfully formed!" he stammered apologetically.

She looked at him bravely, a flush fading from her own cheeks, and explained her errand. Though the student of the leaf had meant nothing to her. But as he wrote down a date there suddenly rushed over her the remembrance of his first meeting. His proud dignity in poverty, his modesty in hard won success.

She paused upon the threshold and held out her hand.

"Won't you come to see me?" she asked simply. Her eyes were filled with a light he had never seen in them before. In their depths he read surrender.

"Come soon," she added tremulously, withdrawing her hand, "for I have long wanted to say this."

Wonderful Fruit Profit.

"One acre of fruit land that will yield 4,000 boxes of apples from its 100 trees and a cash return of $12,000 and a fruit farm that will yield 15,000 boxes of apples which will bring the owner $50,000 are two of the sights I saw while traveling through the state of Colorado to get exhibits for the state fair," said Paul Wilson, president of the State Fair association, the other day to a Denver correspondent of the New York Sun.

Bowmar Party Returns Home.

The "Bowmar Party" which left September 30 for a trip East, returned to Lexington Sunday morning. Mr. Daniel M. Bowmar, editor of the Woodford Sun, of Versailles, was conductor and carried out every plan he had made for the pleasure of the members.

The itinerary of the trip included a visit to Richmond, Jamestown Island, Norfolk, Jamestown Exposition, Old Point Comfort, Virginia Beach, Mt. Vernon, Alexandria, Washington and New York.

Miss Louise Babbage, of Cloverport, was a member of the party, but instead of going to New York she went to Washington and joined the party there on their return. Miss Babbage was the guest of Mrs. George Thomas Smallwood, principal of Washington Seminary, and was beautifully entertained during her visit to the city of magnificent distances.

Went Shopping, Got a Husband.

Miss Nora Truman, a well known young woman of Portsville, left her home Wednesday afternoon for Louisville, where she was quietly married to a Mr. Nash, of Jameville, Ill. Miss Truman left her home saying to her relatives and friends that she was going to visit in Louisville and also stop while there. She did not inform her closest friends of her intended marriage. A telegram was received from her yesterday by her sister stating that she had married and gone to Jameville to live and that she would be fully settled. The affair is a great surprise, Owensboro Inquirer.

Fashion Notes.

"Never before in the history of dress has the length of the skirt been a matter of such importance as it is this autumn," writes Grace Margaret Gould, the Fashion Editor, in the October Fashion Number of the Woman's Home Companion. "It is on the skirt-length question that the American woman and the French woman have such entirely different views. The short skirt for comfort is what the average American woman likes, while the French woman favors the long trailing skirt with its graceful lines."

"Here in America this year there will be two different types of skirts in fashionable favor. One is the walking, or trotter skirt, which is shorter than it has ever been before. It is well in length according to the individual preference of the wearer, some walking skirts escaping the ground by but two inches, others being as short as five inches. It is needless to say, however, that the short skirt will be worn exclusively for walking. The stout fashionable woman for all other occasions will have the very long skirt—the skirt which not only touches the ground, but rests upon it, having a decided sweep at the back."

The advisability of using commercial fertilizers on wheat is borne out by the following data obtained in experiments made under the writer's direction, and further illustrate the importance of supplying soils with vegetable matter on which complete fertilizers are used.

On rather thin land on which cowpeas were plowed under and an application of nitrate of soda at the rate of 75 pounds and muriate of potash at the rate of 37.5 pounds were applied the cost of a bushel of increase was 22 cents. On the same land treated in like manner an application of 150 pounds of acid phosphate and 37.5 pounds of muriate of potash gave a bushel of increase at a cost of 16 cents. In these two instances the increase from the use of fertilizers was between 10 and 11 bushels per acre. Acid phosphate alone applied at the rate of 500 pounds per acre gave a bushel of increase at a cost of 27 cents. We are of the opinion that practically the same increase would have been obtained from possibly half the application, which would have reduced the cost of a bushel of increase quite materially. Where a complete fertilizer was used at the rate of 50 pounds per acre the cost of a bushel of increase was 27 cents. These figures are quoted to show that fertilizers properly compounded and used on wheat increase the yield quite markedly and at a cost that is profitable to the farmer. Besides that, all the fertilizer applied to the wheat crop is not used by it, and there is a residue left in the soil which will put it in better condition for succeeding crops.—Prof. A. N. KIDNEY TROUBLE

C.B. FIZER.

Mr. C. B. FIZER, Mt. Sterling, Ky., writes: "I have suffered with kidney trouble for ten years past."

"Last March I commenced using Parana and continued for three months. I have not used it since, nor have I a pain."

"I believe that I am well and I can give my highest commendation to the curative qualities of Parana."

Parana For Kidney Trouble.

Mrs. Geo. H. Simmer, Grant, Ontario, Can., writes: "I had not been well for about four years. I had kidney trouble, and, best, felt badly nearly all the time."

"This summer I got so very well that I would try Parana, so I wrote to you and began at once to take Parana and Manalin."

"I took only two bottles of Parana and one of Manalin, and now I am better than I have for some time."

"I feel that Parana and Manalin have made a different woman of me altogether. I have not picked up the little book and read of your Parana. It is the business of the kidneys to remove from the blood all poisonous materials. They must be active all the time, else the system suffers. There are times when they need a little assistance. Parana is exactly this sort of a remedy. It has saved many people from disaster by rendering the kidneys as active at a time when they were not able to bear their own burdens."
